“All You Need Is Love”

“All you need is love!” When John, Paul, George, and Ringo first sang those words back in 1967 they were trying to send a message. They were inspired to send out a unified message that couldn’t be misunderstood: “Love is Everything!”

I agree with those boys from Liverpool, at least in part. Love is huge. Love is great. Love is the power that transcends past wrongs and old wounds. But our love is limited. It is limited because we’re all selfish. Ok, maybe that’s a bit harsh. How about we are all, at least in part, selfish. Because Satan let sin loose in the world and because we are stained by that sin, none of us has pure motives. We may love, and we may love with our whole heart, but when we love it is in part because it serves us to be in love. We enjoy the way it feels to love. The object of our love, whether spouse, child, or dear friend, brings joy to our heart when we love them and when they love us in return. So obviously, love is NOT everything.

Or maybe it is. Just not our love. But the love of Jesus is everything. His love knows no bounds. Knows no limits. Knows no impatience or struggle. His love is everything. And through His love, we can love others in ways we would normally not be capable of. We can be self-sacrificial, forgiving, and patient.

St. Paul says, “Love is patient and kind; love does not envy or boast; it is not arrogant or rude. It does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; it does not rejoice at wrongdoing, but rejoices with the truth. Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.” (1 Cor. 13:4-7)

Because we have the love of Christ we may freely pass it on. At church, at home, at work, even in the grocery store we can pass on that love of Christ. It is the greatest of gifts. And it is a gift that grows when shared. Jesus loves you, and so do I. Pass it on.

~In Christ,
Pastor King

Naomi Willing Workers Paper Drive Recap

The Naomi Willing Workers group sponsored a congregation-wide paper goods drive for the Good Samaritan Group Home in Cypress, Texas. Thank you for the show of generosity to all who contributed – we collected 295 rolls of toilet paper, 44 rolls of paper towel, 19 boxes of Kleenex tissues and 5 packages of napkins. This is an annual event, and the residents and staff of the group home were very appreciative of the supplies. Thank you to everyone who participated and made this year such a big success.

Focus on Stewardship

Lent is a season of repentance. Repentance is turning away from sin, while we turn toward God for the forgiveness of sins. During Lent, we hear the Word of God and consider our lives in light of it. We confess our failures, and receive absolution, that is, forgiveness, and then commit ourselves to do better.

What does God say about giving to the Church? The Bible tells us. Our giving should be first fruits giving (Genesis 4:4; Proverbs 3:9). Our giving should be regular, on the first day of week, which has the Divine Service in mind (1 Corinthians 6:1–2). Our giving should be proportional: according to our income (1 Corinthians 16:1–2), according to what we have been given (2 Corinthians 8:12; Luke 12:48), our giving should be given with a spirit of eagerness and enthusiasm (2 Corinthians 9:2), generosity and liberality (2 Corinthians 8:20), cheerfully without compulsion (2 Corinthians 9:7). Our giving should be directed to those who teach us (Galatians 6:6–7) because a laborer is worthy of his hire, and we all know the going rate of such laborers in our communities (Luke 10:7; 1 Timothy 5:18).

Now consider your own giving in light of the Bible's teaching. Are you giving of your first fruits, taking it out of your paycheck first, or does God get what's left over? Are you giving voluntarily and cheerfully? Are you giving proportionally and generously? Are you giving with eagerness and enthusiasm? Are you giving to your local congregation, sharing all good things with the one who teaches you? If your answer to any of these is "No," then repent. Turn away from your sin and toward God for forgiveness. Confess your failure. Receive absolution. And commit to do better. We know that the Spirit is willing but our flesh is weak. We believe, and we pray that God, through Word and Sacrament, would help our unbelief, our lack of trust in His ability to provide.

And this is precisely what God promises. This is what St. Paul wrote to the Church in Corinth: "The point is this: whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully will also reap bountifully. Each one must give as he has made up his mind, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver. And God is able to make all grace abound to you, so that having all sufficiency in all things at all times, you may abound in every good work. As it is written, 'He has distributed freely, he has given to the poor; his righteousness endures forever.' He who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will supply and multiply your seed for sowing and increase the harvest of your righteousness. You will be enriched in every way for all your generosity, which through us will produce thanksgiving to God" (2 Corinthians 9:6–15).

St. Paul tells us that the Lord of all will both supply and increase what you need to give to the church for its work in and for the world. He tells us that this work that God is doing in us will enrich and bless us in every way and through this it will produce thanksgiving to God. Everyone benefits. We will be blessed in our giving, and it will produce thanksgiving to God in those who receive it.

Stewardship . . .

Giving to the church is not a burden, just like all of God’s teaching (1 John 5:2–4). They are not a burden because of He who gives it: the God who loves us and gave His only Son to die so that we may live. He loved us in that He sent His Son, born of a woman, born under the law to redeem those under the law, that we might receive adoption as sons. . . . So we are no longer slaves, but sons, and if a son, then an heir through God (Galatians 4:4–5, 7). We are heirs. We receive the full rights of sons, a status that Christ our Lord achieved for us by His death, resurrection, and ascension.

So we strive to do what He asks because we are His children. And when we don’t, we repent. We confess our sins. We receive absolution. We desire to do better, praying that God would work in us both to will and to do according to His good pleasure (Philippians 2:13).

Aschenbeck Family Ministry Update

Excerpt from January 2016 Newsletter

Christmas Eve in Tanacross brought the light of Christ to many! Late that evening there would be at least 65 at the candlelight service who would witness two baptisms, who would hear the Good News of Christ, and who would witness 18 children participating in the Nativity scene. It was wonderful watching and hearing the children sing "Jesus Loves Me" in the Athabascan language.

No one knew that the joy of Christmas would be shattered a couple weeks later. The grandmother of one of the boys baptized would be called to her eternal home without warning. The light of Christ broke through the darkness of sin, death, and Satan and carried her to her eternal home.

We are often shocked by death, but in reality we shouldn't be! Christ has promised to come back for those whom he loves and who have faith in Him. For those who die in Christ, death is not something to be feared or sorrowful about. Instead it is a reason to rejoice!

One thing I really like about the Athabascan culture is the potlatch. After the funeral and meal there is a time of singing and dancing that is filled with sorrow and mourning. The evening then turns to rejoicing and celebrating and ends with the giving of gifts.

The Christian life is quite similar. Now is the time for sorrow and mourning as we reside in the darkness of sin. And even though we live in this world filled with darkness we rejoice and celebrate as we look forward to the gift of eternal life which is ours in Christ.

The last quarter of 2015 has been a very busy time for our family! We finally moved into a larger house and property in early October. We are working to make it into our permanent base of operations here in Alaska! There is lots of room so be sure to come visit! We were able to share Thanksgiving in our new home with several friends from the Tok community watching football and eating the amazing food prepared by Stacey! (Although Keith cooked the turkey!)

Anna has gotten her hair cut. In Keith's opinion it is short, though it is past her shoulders still. She also received a perm with tight curls and is cute as a button. She continues to grow like a weed.

Micah's hair has been buzzed with the exception of a long "rat tail" in the back. He wears it the same as many of the natives, neatly braided and generally hidden under his shirt. He is still as energetic as always though he has made great leaps and bounds in his school achievement. Much of that success is owed to his amazing teacher who conducts her classroom in a very unique way.

With the snow and now a dog sled Kaleb has been busy running his dogs. He and Keith were finally able to get a trail cut through the woods so he doesn't have to cross any roads. When it comes to dancing and singing in the village, Kaleb is always in the middle of it.

Trey continues to mature into a wonderful young man. He has a servant attitude when he is in the village and has impressed many of the elders with his respect and attentive nature.

Stacey continues to work to keep the kids on track with all their school work. She also picks up substituting opportunities in the villages as they arise. Lately she has been serving as hostess to the guests we have had. She has so enjoyed being in a house where there is room for people to visit.

Stacey and all the kids went to Illinois for a couple of weeks to visit family. They left Keith to fend for himself, though he had little time to rest with all the happenings of ministry and doing some repair work around the house.

Keith found an old snow machine (1989 Ski Doo) for sell quite cheap. A little work on it and the kids have been having a blast being towed around. Mom is also much happier with a decent way to keep up with Kaleb as he runs the dogs.

Please pray for:

- The AMC volunteer in-service taking place near Chicago in January.
- Keith as he plans a trip to the Mid-West in April.
- AMC Volunteer teams who are now preparing for the summer of 2016 and the work God has in store for them.

Fritsche Family Ministry Update

Excerpt from February 2016 newsletter

Polvo eres. A polvo volverás. From dust you are and to dust you shall return. Last week I spoke those words to Pastor Willy, my fellow missionaries and the members of Amigos de Cristo as we crossed the threshold into Lent. Lent begins by reminding us of our mortality. Ashes are placed onto the forehead in the form of a cross. Later, washing off those ashes is a reminder of Holy Baptism. But there's so much more!

Sure, Lent is somber. We save the "alleluias" for the joyous day of our Lord's resurrection. The Gloria in Excelsis disappears for a while. But Lent is ultimately about the joy of the Gospel. It's not that we get an extra forty days to lie in ashes and sackcloth and mourn over our sins. That's not the intent. Nor is it about giving up things, although that can be a useful tradition.

Lent is about Jesus, who for the JOY set before Him, endured the cross (Hebrews 12:2). It's about God's steadfast love in Christ, apart from which our hearts would remain lost in the darkness of sin. The prophet Joel called (and still calls) God's people to rend their hearts, to return to the Lord. That's what the Holy Spirit works through the proclamation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Like David, we pray for a new, clean heart (Psalm 51). And God gladly gives you one!

Only God can rend our hearts. Only God can rend the hearts of those to whom we are sharing the Gospel here in the Dominican Republic. We begin with ashes this Lent, but all of our Gospel readings hold before us the Savior. From the Jesus who, thrice tempted, sends the devil fleeing to the same Jesus who rides into Jerusalem on a donkey, He's always headed to the cross, where He suffered and died for the sins of the world, yours and mine. That's the steadfast love of God by which He calls and reaches out to you to bring you back into his fold, to return to Him with all your heart.

Rend your heart and return to the Lord. That happens daily as the Holy Spirit keeps you in Christ through repentance and faith. Your baptism means that you're clothed, not with sackcloth, but with Him who conquered death and brings you life and immortality. It's that same Jesus we preach during Lent and every time the Lord gathers us in His house. So yes, Lent may be somber as we watch our Lord go to the cross, knowing the horror of what He endured. But at the same time, there's the joy of what that all means for you and for me—forgiveness, life and salvation.

Things are going well on all fronts. James and Christel Neuendorf have joined our team in Santo Domingo. We're still getting organized and working on our strategic plan and division of responsibilities here.

Installation of James and Christel Neuendorf.

We have worship twice a month at our new mission, but have also added weekly Bible study in the local park across from the mission site. We're making plans for outreach to children as over one hundred kids are in that same park each afternoon after school. We've had two theological intensive weekend courses in the past several weeks for not only our pastoral and deaconess students, but also for church members.

In January, members from all of our churches gathered as Deaconess Sandra Rhein from Indiana led a course on worship and liturgy. We have also had several more baptisms at Las Americas and the start of a new confirmation class. Recently, there were three babies in worship with their moms, all needing to be baptized. Thanks be to God for such awesome opportunities!

We learned a few weeks ago that the owner of our current house in Santo Domingo would like to rent it to a family member, so we've been on the hunt for a new place. Since rent houses are hard to come by in our area, we focused our search on apartments. In a couple of weeks we'll be moving to an 8th floor apartment. We're sad to lose the house, but have some great trade-offs in our new apartment. The boys have been doing well in school. Viktor has brought home awards in both math and speech.

A blessed Lent to you all. Thank you for your continued prayers and support!

Please pray for:

- The Warren and Preus families who are expecting babies. Both are in the states due to the threat of the Zika virus in our region.
- God's blessings on our outreach plans for our new mission.
- Our new confirmation class which began in February in Las Americas.
